

Measure your outcomes

Collaborate around shared goals, outcomes, mapped to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, you can assess whether your grants met the outcomes you intended. Your organization and grant partners will be empowered to achieve greater impact and articulate your collective progress to furthering social good.

Tell your impact story

With Blackbaud Outcomes dashboards tied directly to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, your organization can show the positive change you're creating and support market outreach. Leverage your results—powered by a common outcomes measurement language—to clearly demonstrate your impact, strengthen your story, and deepen your connection with the community you're supporting.

Collaborate with your grant partners your grantee partners means unparalleled transparency and accountability throughout the entire grants cycle. Improve interaction and tracking with your grant partners using online application forms and an intuitive grantee portal. Online application forms are uniquely designed for your organization, and your grant partners to manage applications

Drive results-focused decisions with data

Monitor progress and show the impact of your grantmaking investments. Access relevant data points around your current initiatives by easily choosing from a wide variety of reporting options including preprogrammed, advanced, and ad hoc report options. With the right data, you'll be able to make grants and investment decisions based on outcomes data from past projects and identify new collaborative opportunities for the future.

Stay secure with a cloud solution

Our outcomes solution is powered by our modern, integrated, and industry-leading open cloud for the social good community. Access real-time grants information from anywhere, anytime. And gain peace of mind knowing that Blackbaud is deeply committed to ensuring that your data and applications stay up-to-date, secure, and compliant with industry cybersecurity standards.

About Blackbaud

Leading uniquely at the intersection point of technology and social good, Blackbaud connects and empowers organizations to increase their impact companies, education institutions, healthcare organizations, and the individual change agents who support them.